

Flowering Crabapples

Where quality is always growing

The flowering crabapple has long been a favorite in northeastern landscapes. It's versatile and a tree of multi-season interest. In addition, it's a very hardy tree in CNY winters and grows well in our heavy clay soils. In the spring, crabapples are one of the earlier trees to bloom with a profuse display of flowers before the foliage emerges. Later in the season, crabapples can be very colorful with fall foliage colors and bright fruit.

Many crabapples produce very colorful fruit that looks as though the small tree is flowering again. A wonderful characteristic that has been selected and bred into many varieties is fruit persistence. This means that there is no mess from falling fruit. It stays on the tree until either birds use as a food source in late winter or it falls later in the spring. When it falls, it's a very small, dried, raisin-like pit. Some varieties produce very few fruit.

The wide variability in flower color, fruit color, foliage shape and color, canopy shape, and overall size make it so that there is a crabapple to accent most any landscape. At Chuck Hafner's, we have selected only varieties of crabapples that have persistent fruit, superior ornamental characteristics, and are very disease resistant so that you will have the most success when planting these great small trees in your landscape.

Crabapples

Variety	Flower Color	Fruit Color	Leaf Color	Canopy Shape	Mature Size (HxW)
Cinderella	White	Bright Gold	Green	Upright Oval	8' x 5'
Coralburst	Light Pink	Yellow Green	Dark Green	Compact Rounded	8' x 8'
Donald Wyman	White	Bright Red	Glossy Green	Rounded	20' x 24'
Harvest Gold	White	Bright Gold	Dark Green	Upright Oval	20' x 15'
Lollipop	White	Bright Red	Green	Compact Rounded	10' x 10'
Pink Princess	Rose Pink	Deep Red	Burgundy, Red-Green	Low Spreading	8' x 10'
Prairiefire	Bright Hot Pink	Dark Red	Burgundy, Red-Green	Rounded	20' x 20'
Robinson	Deep Rose Pink	Dark Red	Red-Green	Upright Spreading	25' x 25'
Royal Raindrops	Bright Pink Red	Dark red	Burgundy, Cut Leaf	Upright Spreading	20' x 15'
Sargent Tina	White	Bright Red	Green	Spreading Oval	5' x 6'
Sugar Tyme	White	Bright Red	Green	Upright Spreading	18' x 15'